

Emory Faculty Staff Assistance Program (FSAP) is here to support and provide services to faculty and staff who are experiencing a myriad of emotions and reactions related to the recent court decision, which upholds Georgia's Law HB481. Navigating the impact of this court decision, amid coping with previous traumatic incidents of violence and ongoing societal stressors, can erode resilience and induce stress. Whether you are struggling to process this decision yourself or anticipate supporting others in your life, FSAP is here to assist you. The following services are available to you:

Individual Support

Click here to review all of the services available for individual support. You may call 404-727-9355 (WELL) to set up an appointment.

Crisis After-hours Support

FSAP offers after-hours on-call services on weekdays and weekends (including holidays). Please call 404-727-9355 and press 2 to be connected to the on-call service. The on-call service will connect you with the on-call clinician.

Group Support

Starting August 2, FSAP will be offering Connect and Chat sessions. These weekly sessions are open to Emory staff and faculty members who need support while navigating ongoing societal stressors and traumatic events. Sessions will occur every Tuesday @ 12pm. Click here to register. After registering, you will receive a confirmation email containing information about joining the meeting.